This blind-fold game in Korea is serious business. A captured North Korean is blindfolded, before being removed for questioning, so he won't see any U. S. secrets. Cpl. Silby to Operate Chrysler Agency

Pennsylvania Man Picks Kingston After Tour of Wide Area

HARRY H. SILBY

Harry H. Silby, of Media, Pa., after touring several thousand miles over the nation in search of a community in which to live and conduct a business, announced today that Kingston is the place.

Silby recently purchased the Harold Halvick garage, 515 Albany avenue, and will be the new Chrysler-Plymouth dealer here. He will renovate the building and plans to open about Sept. 1.

The city's new automobile dealer has had wide experience in the field and formerly conducted a large Dodge-Plymouth agency in Philadelphia.

Before coming to Kingston, Silby said, he toured through the south, southwest and other areas of the nation covering between 7,000 and 8,000 miles prior to making his decision. He is married and has a son and in his appraisal of Kingston he said: "We like this city and its people and we hope they will like us."

The transaction was negotiated by Lawrence J. MacAvery local realtor, with Attorney Vincent G. Connolly representing Halvick and Attorney Howard St. John representing Silby.

Plant Is Burned

Owners Ask F.B.I. Probe to Determine Cause; Damage $250,000

San Carlos, Calif., Aug. 17 (AP)—A spectacular fire and explosion last night leveled a chemical plant making material for the Korean battlefield. Adjoining buildings were damaged.

Owners said the plant may have been sabotaged. They requested an F.B.I. probe. Damage was estimated at $250,000. Repeated blasts and flames, forming a mushroom-shaped fireball, were mistaken for an atomic explosion by some residents. Firemen from several nearby San Francisco peninsula cities rushed to the scene.

Dr. A. C. Carlton, president of the Chemical Affiliates, Inc., the plant destroyed, said it processed petroleum products for the army and navy.

He said it was working on a $150,000 government contract.

J. A. Hathmaker Heads Voluntary Committee Which Will Contact Summer Residents

Organization of an area-wide movement to obtain at least $850,000 by public subscription to expand and modernize the Kingston Hospital was announced today by John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., president of the hospital's board of trustees who has accepted chairmanship of the building fund.

Schoonmaker disclosed that the hospital's board of trustees has set in motion the first enlargement program at the Kingston Hospital since the present facilities were completed approximately 24 years ago. Architectural plans for the expansion, he said, being prepared by Harry Halverson of Kingston, have now reached the stage which makes it imperative that steps be taken to obtain the sum necessary for construction to begin.

The chairman also revealed that an allocation of federal funds through the New York State Joint Hospital Planning and Survey Commission, is anticipated. This will augment the amount expected to be subscribed by the public.

Schoonmaker also announced that the first phase of the $850,000 building fund movement will be conducted by a volunteer committee headed by John A. Hathmaker of Kingston, to approach summer residents.

This committee, he pointed out, has been organized in order that summer residents, who rely on the facilities of the Kingston Hospital during the months which they spend here with their families, may participate in the construction program.

"Mr. Hathmaker's willingness to accept the leadership of this phase of the Kingston Hospital building fund campaign is another demonstration of the civic-minded cooperation of our summer residents," said Schoonmaker.

"Those who are assisting him will find, I am confident, that others in all parts of this healthy and health-conscious area will join with those who live here all the year around in making subscription to the fund for the urgently-needed construction program at the Kingston Hospital."

"Acceptance of individual responsibilities by the members of Mr. Hathmaker's summer residents committee constitute their endorsement of the project as it has been planned, and it affords reasonable assurance that our welcome part-time neighbors will play their full part in the movement now getting under way."

Details of other phases of the building fund campaign will be announced at a later date, Schoonmaker said.

Cyclist Is Injured
Lorenzo Schlick, 18, of New York, was brought to the Benedictine Hospital at 2 p. m. yesterday for treatment of injuries suffered in a bicycle mishap at Ulster Landing. His condition today was reported as "good." Details of the mishap were not available, but it was said he was thrown from the bicycle when part of a wheel broke. He was taken to the hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance.

Says He's No Candidate
New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Democratic State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick says he is not and never has been a candidate for nomination for governor. Yesterday, shortly after Edward J. Flynn, Bronx leader and Democratic national committeeman, declared the choices for mayor of New York and the governor were "wide open," Fitzpatrick declared: "I never was a candidate and I am not one now."

30,000 North Koreans Push On Taegu From 15-Mile Distance

Child, 11, Saves Two, Loses Life

Monticello, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Kathleen Knapp saved her younger brother and sister from fire in their playhouse—but Kathleen herself died of burns today.

Her brother Thomas, 10, brought a coffee can filled with gasoline to the playhouse behind their grandparents' home at nearby Hurleyville. He tried to light a fire in a toy stove. The can of gasoline exploded.

Kathleen seized the blazing can and threw it out the door. Her dress caught fire and she suffered third degree burns on the legs, back, left arm and head. Her sister Susan, two, also in the playhouse, was burned on one ankle. Thomas was unhurt.

The accident occurred Tuesday afternoon. Kathleen was in great pain until death came at Hamilton Avenue Hospital today.

Peace Defenders Demand A-Bomb Be Banned in War

Would Deal With Nation Using It as Criminal; Ask Commission on Korea

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 17 (AP)—An American sought today to broaden the Communist-supported Stockholm peace appeal into a call for outlawry of all aggression.

The appeal, circulated by the World Defenders of Peace, now demands that only the atomic bomb be banned and that the first nation to use it be dealt with as a war criminal.

Lawyer O. John Rogge of New York, vice president of the peace defenders and former assistant United States attorney general, prepared the amendment.

He said today it was one of three resolutions he turned in for consideration by the executive committee of the movement now meeting here.

The first resolution proposes that "by reason of the course of aggressive war upon which North Korea has embarked," the Stockholm appeal be amended.

It suggests a new first paragraph for the four-paragraph appeal. The revision would call for "the outlawry of aggression from whatever source and by whatever country."

Russians' 'Grab' Might Hurt U. N.

Wiley Would Keep Chinese Reds Out Of Southern Korea

Wisconsin Senator Thinks Trap Has Been Set to Bring On U. S. Exhaustion

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) today called for an all-out effort to keep the Chinese Communists out of the South Korean fighting.

Saying that the Russians had "baited a trap" in Asia, the ranking active Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee declared in a statement:

"The greatest challenge that we now face is to use every ounce of diplomatic strategy that we have in preventing the Chinese Red Armies from becoming involved with us in a Titanic struggle."

"Such a struggle would bleed us completely dry—bleed us of our manpower, bleed us of our arms, bleed us of our economic strength."

The United States, he said, must use its friends in the Philippines, India, China and elsewhere to prevent the Communists "from attempting to stir up a race war against the United States."

Wiley said he had asked the administration for a complete report on its plans to avoid tangling with the Chinese Reds in Korea and southeast Asia.

No Mention Made
Wiley made no mention of President Truman's order to the Seventh Fleet to defend the island of Formosa, where the Chinese Nationalist government is entrenched, against Communist invasion.

Neither did he take note of repeated Republican demands that the United States send military supplies to the Nationalists.

Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska told the Senate yesterday that the responsibility for the shedding of American blood in Korea rests with Secretary of State Acheson.

He said it had been Acheson's policy to equip only a South Korean police force instead of supplying the larger-scale military aid approved by Congress.

Similar Note Hint
Wiley hit a similar note in blaming the administration for lack of military preparedness and home-front economic and defense planning.

"In fact," he said, "all we have is the bluff and bluster of the incompetent, unprepared Democratic administration."

Wherry's blast today was set off by a statement made by Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Tydings told the Senate that the United States has spent $495,700,000 on South Korea since World War II.

32 Men Are Found Shot, Hands Tied

Five Americans Escape, Tell Story; Also Massacre Wounded on Ground

Seen as Retaliation

Executions Reported to Be Followup to B-29 Bombing

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—Many of the best informed American officials now believe Russia will openly grab off North Korea—above the 38th parallel—rather than let a victorious U.N. restore peace and unity to the country.

It is assumed here that the precise steps to be taken have been under negotiations between the Soviet Union and Communist China. It is also assumed they will act jointly when the time comes.

Administration officials, however, gave little credence to reports which have come mainly from Chinese Nationalist sources that Russian Vice Premier V. M. Molotov has been in Peking, Red Chinese capital, negotiating with Premier Mao Tse Tung and other officials on this and related problems.

Whether Molotov has or has not been there, the belief of responsible authorities here is that the Soviets and Chinese must be deeply involved in fateful talks at this time, concerning not only Korea but also the Far East.

Determination Shown
Increasing evidence of the build-up of U.N. power in southern Korea, it is believed, must now give the Russians and the Chinese virtual proof of the determination of the U.S. and other countries associated in the Korean struggle to drive the invaders out of the south.

In other words, the Red strategists must now decide whether they will use to deal with a victorious U.N. coalition in Korea whereas up to this time they may very well have counted on a Communist victory.

For the U.N. the prospect of eventual success in South Korea has already raised the question, thus far unanswered, as to what U.N. forces should do when they reach the 38th parallel. Should they then stop short on the theory that the invader has been driven out of South Korea? Or should they drive on in the belief that by crushing the Communist military power a real peace has been established in Korea?

Only Defensible One
There is wide-spread belief here that the latter course is the only defensible one. This belief, however, is based on an assumption that neither Russia nor Communist China will become directly engaged in the Korean conflict.

If the Russians, perhaps in collaboration with the Chinese Reds, succeed in driving the U.N. forces out of the south, the whole problem for the U.N. powers will take on a new color. They will then have to decide whether to accept Russian domination of northern Korea as a fact to live with, or whether to

Fair Program Is Disrupted by Rain Of Heavy Intensity

Violent Lightning, Hail Are Reported; Crews Kept Busy by Utilities

Rain of near-record intensity rang down an early curtain on last night's festivities at the Ulster County Fair.

The storm was one of a series of violent thunder and lightning storms in this section of the state. Hailstones were reported in the Ashokan Reservoir area and around Phoenixia, but few reports of property damage were received here.

The city engineer's office reported that rain fell hard for a half-hour, reaching an intensity of 1.36 inches per hour. Only once before had as high an intensity been reported since the engineer's office began keeping weather records in 1933.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation crews were busy with power interruptions along the Rondout Valley, Shokan, Ashokan and Saugerties areas. The trouble was mostly with lightning strikes on high tension wires and service was restored in all areas.

Anglican Urges Revised Dogmas

Wright Cites Virgin Birth as One in Which Few Have Confidence

Cambridge, England, Aug. 17 (AP)—Many church dogmas, including a belief in the virgin birth of Christ, are false "like the mirage in the desert" and ought to be revised, a leading Anglican professor of religion asserted today.

"Few Christian scholars have any confidence that what is called the virgin birth was historical fact, and there are a number of possible and permissible theories of what is called the resurrection, the ascension and the judgment," Dr. J. C. Wright said in a formal paper read to the modern Churchmen's Conference.

Dr. Wright is a member of the staff of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, one of the principal missionary colleges of the Church of England. He was a professor at the Methodist Training College in Manchester before joining the Church of England.

"All thoughtful people now know that the dogmatic clarity achieved by the dogmatists was a false clarity—like the mirage in the desert," Dr. Wright said.

"Not Found Adequate"
"A large body of thoughtful, moral and spiritual people do not find the two approved creeds, the apostles and the Nicene, an adequate expression of their Christian convictions. They have grown old and are now symbols of division within the church."

He declared that the "assertion of dubious fact antagonizes an intelligent faith."

Marines Are Pulled From South Area

Only Two South Korean Divisions Are Before Oncoming Reds; Is 'Most Serious' Push

Are East of River

North Koreans Advance Through Steep Passes Near Naktong

Tokyo, Aug. 18 (AP)—Thirty thousand North Koreans opened a massive drive on Taegu on the central Korean warfront Thursday.

The Reds poured through steep mountain passes 15 miles north of the South Korean emergency capital. They were east of the Naktong river.

Only two South Korean divisions stood between them and Taegu. South Koreans controlled the mountain pass roads.

The Communists poured out of the B-29 bomber area west of the river. They jumped off from an area between Waegwan and Kowul.

Their attack started a few hours after U. S. Marines and the 24th Infantry Division struck a new allied blow at the 12,000-man Red bridgehead on the east bank of the Naktong river near Changyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

The Marines had been pulled out of the south coastal area where they had made advances on Chinha. They were ordered back 20-odd miles to the east and then shunted northward for the Changyong attack.

The U. S. 25th Infantry Division took the Marines' places in the coastal line just west of Masan, southern port which is 27 airline miles east of Pusan.

It was on the north central front, north of Taegu, that the Reds were making their most dangerous thrust, however.

The sudden thrust was described by U. S. 8th Army headquarters as "the most serious one to the United Nations in Korea."

It followed a massed bombing attack by 98 B-29s Wednesday, which was aimed to slow the Red offensive.

The sudden outburst to the north developed after U. S. Marines and the U. S. 24th Infantry Division jumped off with a counter-attack in the Reds' Changyong river-crossing bridge in a bloody effort to drive the enemy back across the Naktong.

The marine-aimed attack roared up a steep hill near Changyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

Fiercest of War
The Changyong fighting was fiercest of the war.

A. P. Correspondent Don Whitehead said the marines advanced over a savagely contested slope.

He said it was the type of fight the marines made in the Pacific in the Second World War.

A. P. Correspondent Jack MacBeth reported from the 24th Infantry positions Thursday night.

He Is 'Convinced'
Tokyo, Aug. 17 (AP)—A veteran Red lieutenant who deserted and surrendered to the Americans says the North Koreans can't win.

Intelligence officers at General MacArthur's headquarters said today the North Korean was assistant company commander and political officer of his unit in the elite North Korean Sixth Division. It was battered by U. S. Marines and army infantry around Chinha.

The Red estimated his division's 13th and 15th Regiments suffered 50 per cent casualties and the 14th Regiment's losses were 80 per cent.

A headquarters spokesman said the captured officer was "one of those we had been led by past experience to believe would kill themselves rather than surrender. Others have done so when facing capture."

The deserter said he became separated from his unit in a confused retreat.

"I was tired of war and convinced the North Koreans can't win."

Congress Hopes to End Session Within 2 Weeks

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—A big push to get Congress out of town by the end of this month—or just before the Labor Day holiday—gained influential backing today.

Senator Myers (D.-Pa.), acting majority leader of the Senate, told a reporter that Congressional chieftains are aiming at a legislative shutdown Saturday, Sept. 2.

"We've got an awful lot of important things to consider before we can quit but that's what we are aiming at now," he added.

This confirmed earlier reports by Senate Republican Leaders Wherry of Nebraska and Taft of Ohio that they would cooperate in an effort to wind up major congressional business during the next two weeks.

It was the first time since the Communist invasion of Korea on June 25 that Senate leaders of both major parties agreed it might be possible to quit lawmaking on a certain date.

State Thruway Topic at RotaryBENJAMIN A. GILMAN

"Completion of the New York State Thruway will vitally affect the pocketbooks of each and every one of us, affording manifold motoring savings in gas consumption, car maintenance and auto insurance," declared Thruway's field representative Benjamin A. Gilman, speaking at Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Mr. Gilman stated that 65 million dollars of Thruway construction had already been obligated; that two sections were already completed; and that the remainder of the 450 million dollar project would be totally underway within three to four years.

Noting that the average age of New York highways is 19 years; that 90 per cent are only two lanes wide and that 42 per cent are below a "tolerable condition," Mr. Gilman warned that, "New York state's present transportation system is developing a 'hardening of the arteries' due to high vehicle pressure."

The Rotarians learned that the modern 535 mile, four to six lane, high-speed Thruway will be self-financed, adding "not a single penny to the general state tax bill." License fees charged Thruway users will provide the financial source for the construction of this pioneer design in high speed motoring.

"The exact scale of licensing fees depends on two factors: The amount of potential Thruway traffic (now being surveyed) and the fate of the Constitutional amendment pledging state credit to bonds issued by the Thruway," declared Mr. Gilman. "If this amendment is approved by the next Legislature and by the voters in November, 1951, the savings in interest charges on the bonds will be about 115 million over their life. This saving will be reflected in lower fees for Thruway motorists."

Local approaches to the Thruway were indicated at Route 208 (near the Neighborhood Road) and Route 28, west of the city line near the old airport road.

Assisting in the questioning period following Gilman's talk were Senator Arthur Wicks,

James F. Loughran and Harry Krom.

MEDICAL QUACKERY

One field of fraud which seems to be unlimited both as to its operators and its customers is medical quackery. Authorities keep turning up practitioners using magic devices which are supposed to effect cures when worn at the proper spot, making diagnosis and giving treatment with mysterious machines which can't be explained, or writing prescriptions for patent medicines. Their fees run high, yet they usually seem to do a thriving business.

Dealing with medical quacks through legal processes is slow. "Today's Health", a publication of the American Medical Association, comments on a recent conviction and sentencing in Chicago of the manufacturers of a little brass tube supposed to have curative powers, sold at $300 and declared by authorities to be absolutely worthless. This climaxed more than twenty-five years of investigation and pursuit by government agencies.

As pointed out by the judge who presided over the trial, the evil results of medical quackery are not limited to the financial losses of victims who pay for worthless treatments and devices. It undermines genuine medical practice, as counterfeit money undermines the currency. Its victims undergo suffering, perhaps spread their illnesses to others, sometimes die, and no one knows how much of this might have been prevented by proper medical care.

GEOGRAPHY LESSON

It was amusing when the Richmond News Leader received a protest against publication of maps showing the Korean battle lines superimposed over maps of the Virginia area, after a reader with a too-literal mind had betaken himself away from his job to move out of the danger zone. But the story provokes thought, too.

A certain amount of this kind of comparison is good. It is easier to get a picture of a strange region if it can be related to a familiar one. Comparison is supposed to help learning, but not to take its place.

Most Americans made substantial additions to their knowledge of world geography through following the news of World War II. In general we are much better educated as to the size and shape of the world than we were before, and that is not a bad thing. Inasmuch as we have troops fighting in Korea, it seems not too much to expect of the rest of us at home that we dig in and learn enough of the geography of Korea to be able to read the war maps on their proper background.

SEOUL CITY SUE

Already there has appeared on the radio a Korean version of the infamous "Axis Sally" and "Tokyo Rose" of World War II. The girl with the excellent command of English and the script full of Red propaganda, addressed to American troops by way of a Korean radio station, was promptly nicknamed "Seoul City Sue" by the Americans.

We Americans often gnash our teeth in frustrated anger as we contemplate the propaganda battle between East and West, because we realize that we do not understand the thinking of Russians and other Orientals and do not know quite what to do about it. We can comfort ourselves with the realization that they do not understand our ways of thinking either. They will never quite realize what a waste is being made of Seoul City Sue's talents. The quick and keen sense of humor and perspective which produced this tolerantly amused nickname for their shrewd broadcaster is assurance that any effect of her blandishments will be opposite from that intended by the Reds.

OVERWORKED STALIN

Stalin is overworked. He says so himself, explaining to the Russian magazine Bolshoi why he cannot take time to give his views on languages. This is a more contentious question just now than it may sound, as the dictator turned from Korea and Tito to condemn the late Professor Nikolai Marr, a leading authority on languages, for Marxian notions. Why some secretary could not expound Stalin's views, which are

PRIVATE RESPONSIBILITY

In time of war, it is not unusual for a people to become deeply concerned over details. Where is Pusan? What did Averell Harriman say to General MacArthur?

All this is interesting, but it divorces the mind from our major problem—the answer to which will decide what our world will be, no matter whether battles are won or lost.

Obviously something happened between the years 1914 and 1950 which altered the course of western civilization and of American history and life. That alteration has not been for the better. It has brought us, to date, three general wars and an economic dislocation of great depth. Its social consequences are just beginning to appear in the changed character of our family life.

Walter Hoving, merchant, put it this way: "Why are we so confused? Is it possibly because so many of our basic beliefs were under fire during the first half of the twentieth century? Beliefs that we used to take for granted suffered from constant and vigorous attack. Take our religious beliefs for example. The initial assault on religion came from science. Science set itself up as having an omnipotence of its own. Many people instead of recognizing that science was merely discovering the laws of God were led to believe that science itself was God. They were made to feel that the spiritual basis for the universe was old-fashioned and obsolete."

This is a clinical diagnosis of a deep social illness, namely, that the vast accumulation of unrelated data has had the effect of separating us from the essential characteristic of western civilization, which is, private, personal, individual responsibility. But what it comes to is that not a majority, or a mass or a mob, or a committee, nor even a minority, can assume responsibility for the conduct of the individual in the presence of God.

This concept of personal responsibility had the broadest historical consequences, for it evoked the doctrine of personal liberty and of political and economic freedom. On the political side, it destroyed the concept of despotism and established the principle that a good government is one in which the choice is made, in an orderly fashion, by the people themselves. On the economic side, it produced capitalism.

By whatever name, private enterprise, free enterprise, profit and loss system, capitalism is the economic consequence of a philosophic system of personal rather than mass responsibility. It is one man standing alone to do what he can and must, assuming all the liabilities, risking his future, accepting the benefits, whatever they may be.

This system, whatever its advantages or defects, cannot exist at all if government or any other communal agency rejects the responsibility of the individual for his choices, his decisions and his conduct. For instance, such a system cannot exist in a prison or an asylum or even when, in despair or for power, men are forced to go to war.

Under such conditions, a despotism appears—either the despotism of the person, or of an oligarchy or a mob. The individual is not only repressed; he is actually suppressed as a nuisance. Whoever controls force and power, controls man. The individual not only may not do according to his choice; he may not think without consent.

Thus, Zhdanov was able to dictate the character of newly-written music; and now Stalin is meddling about with the propriety of words. Dictators operate not only in the political and economic realm; they would fashion all men to their tastes and destroy those who displease them.

Walter Hoving makes this interesting point: "One of the most tragic consequences of all this is that we have even lost our deep seated belief in freedom itself. Although we still use the word, its connotation has changed. We have substituted for freedom a sort of parasitical security. For example, many people number among the so-called four freedoms two new ones: they are the freedom from want and the freedom from fear. These, of course, are not freedoms at all, but securities."

For every benefit, there must be a compensatory payment or even sacrifice. Therefore, to obtain extraordinary securities, freedoms have to be curtailed or sacrificed entirely. Guaranteed existence, which is called security, can only mean a lessening or the elimination of personal responsibility. This is the essential danger of our era.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Because so many men and women in the prime of life are dying of coronary thrombosis and apoplexy, due to weakness and loss of elasticity in the blood vessels, research workers all over the world are trying to find a method that will take the constant strain or stretch off the blood vessels. If the pressure of blood against the walls of the arteries can be reduced for short or long periods, then these vessels are bound to last longer and the individual kept free or nearly free from the physical, mental and emotional symptoms of high blood pressure.

Many years ago a drug known as American Polk Root (Hellebore) was used to quiet a pounding heart and relieve stretched blood vessels, thus reducing high blood pressure. For some reason, although it was seldom fatal it fell into disuse, other drugs taking its place in reducing blood pressure. It is interesting and gratifying to learn that research workers have been investigating this drug, lately known as veratrum viride.

From the Bureau of Publicity, Boston University, we learn that at the last meeting of American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics, held in Miami City last April, four professors of Boston University's School of Medicine Department of Pharmacology, reported a new drug effective in the experimental treatment of high blood pressure. These professors were Jacob W. Stutzman, Robert O. Bauer, Norman Stearns and George L. Malson.

This drug when available to the medical profession will be known as Veriloid, as it is derived from veratrum viride (Polk Root). The new drug is about 150 times as powerful as the crude powdered dry root from which it is derived.

These research workers point out that this drug does not get rid of the cause of high blood pressure. It lowers the pressure for a few hours after each dose. "During the past ten months," they write, "Veriloid has been used on an investigative basis in treating high blood pressure by the Department of Medicine at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital of Boston and other clinics, and for effective in lowering blood pressure in certain clinical cases."

A drug that can safely lower blood pressure for hours at a time should, with other quieting drugs now available, be of help to patients and physicians in the treatment of that great enemy—high blood pressure.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Right-wing Republicans and Dixiecrats are secretly plotting a political alliance to capture control of Congress by 1952, then to take over the Electoral College—key to the presidency. We have documentary proof of this daring plan, which already has the secret backing of nationally known conservatives.

In brief, the plan calls for Republicans and southern Democrats to join forces without changing party affiliations. However, they would merge the seniority and run Congress jointly. Then the next step would be to organize a similar coalition to dominate the Electoral College and name a conservative president.

The ringleader of this amazing plot is a stocky, ruddy-faced North Carolinian named J. Harvie Williams. Though comparatively unknown, he claims to have the support of such G.O.P. leaders as Senators Karl Mundt of South Dakota and John Bricker of Ohio, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana and Frederic Coudert of New York; also such southern stalwarts as Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia and Dick Russell of Georgia, Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia, and Dixiecrat Governor-elect James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Painstaking Plan
Williams has set forth his so-called "political realignment" plan in painstaking detail in a series of "strictly confidential" memos, which are also marked: "Please do not discuss outside sympathetic circles."

"Our plan for political realignment is a simple one," he writes. "It involves nothing more than a formal alliance between Republicans and southern Democrats in the Senate, in the House and in the Electoral College."

Of the 64 senators in the Republican-southern bloc, Williams calculates that three southerners would refuse to join the alliance. This would still leave a majority of 54 seats to 42. In the House, he expects to lose 21 Republicans and 13 southerners, giving the coalition control of the House by a 240-to-195 margin.

Williams explains: "In effect, this realignment would create a new party, but without the necessity of any change of party names. This realignment is legally possible."

Congressional Reaction
As a sample of private congressional reaction, Williams received a letter from Senator Mundt, dated May 16, and addressed "Dear Harvie."

"I am still inclined to believe that the merger at the congressional level has too many practical barriers to make it feasible at this juncture and that the most realistic approach is one which would handle this matter in the Electoral College," the senator from South Dakota suggested.

Note—Williams' political thesis is that the United States is now a nation of "mongrels" with most of the "alien" elements concentrated in the urban north. His basis for realignment is a geographic unification of "white, English-speaking stocks" to elect a "conservative president." For this post, Williams favors Senator Bricker, or possibly Senator Byrd, a Democrat.

Secret Poll
Jimmy Roosevelt, now running for governor of California, is frustrated over a secret public-opinion poll he took the other day. It revealed that 30 per cent of California's Democrats think Jimmy's opponent, Governor Warren, is a Democrat.

When asked about the poll, Roosevelt grinned: "I don't want to run a smear campaign, but I'm determined to expose Warren's affiliation with the Republican party!"

Impressive Handshake
Genl William "Fishbait" Miller, doorkeeper of the House, is a great favorite with children, especially those of his Sunday school class at the Fountain Memorial Baptist Church in Washington.

After each service Miller stands outside the church and shakes hands with the youngsters. One little three-year-old girl, who had just attended her first Sunday school, rushed home to tell her father all about it.

"Guo's what, daddy?" she exclaimed. "I got to shake hands with God."

National Military Policy Is Seen as Pressing Need for U. S.; Strength Unbalanced

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—When will the United States adopt a national military policy? The present crisis may be over in a few months if no large-scale war is begun, but the United States will still be without a national military policy unless there is a complete re-examination soon of weaknesses in strategic concept which have produced our unbalanced defense of today.

Too much reliance is being placed on anticipated cooperation by the members of the North Atlantic Pact. Too much is expected also from a loose federation of governments with diverse interests in the United Nations. Too little thought moreover has been given to the fact that the Pacific Ocean will be an area of trouble for many years to come.

The simple truth is that in the last five years the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff have been influenced by pressure to divide up an allotted sum of money, and have not developed an overall strategy plan for the defense of the United States or for the fulfillment of the global responsibilities assumed by this country since the close of World War II.

The limited concept thus far has been that the United States can wage an air war with atom bombs carried by intercontinental bombers and that navies and ground armies would play a secondary role. The Korean war has depreciated this concept. It had evidently been approved by President Truman on the theory that this was the best military advice available. There were dissenting views inside the military establishment but these were not given full expression.

Actually, the military chiefs will admit that they never told that any program they offered was "adequate" and they have never known what the diplomatic commitments or involvements would be that they would be called upon to carry out in a military sense.

Thus the decision not to defend South Korea was made last January and announced by Secretary of State Acheson. It was reversed in June. To what extent the military men suppressed their own feelings and conceded in January that Korea need not be defended has never been revealed. But certainly any group of military advisers who did not see the military situation eventually to the United States through a possible Russian seizure of Korea has no business running the military program of the United States.

Apparently no decision has yet been reached by American policy makers as to whether the new Japan is to be thrown into the arms of Communist Russia or to be assisted to become an ally of the United States.

In any event, there can be no building of our army, navy or air force to adequate strength for defense or offense, when no military policy of a long-range character is formulated. This task may have to be undertaken now by the newly appointed subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee which is headed by Senator Johnson of Texas and comprised, in addition, of Senators Chapman of Kentucky, Kefauver of Tennessee, Hunt of Wyoming, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Morse of Oregon.

This correspondent was wrong in his impression, conveyed in these dispatches recently, that the subcommittee was established for "whitewash" purposes. Later information plainly indicates that the committee will not be partisans of the status quo but will approach objectively both the mistakes of the past and the planning for the future. The members were carefully selected on the basis of their ability to do the job.

The subcommittee has an unprecedented opportunity. It cannot only come up with recommendations for the improvement of our armed services but it can speak up on the problem of reorganizing our military and diplomatic concepts, which is something that has plagued the armed services of the United States for decades past.

It is more dangerous now than ever before to allow a drifting policy that improvises in emergencies. A long-range policy is more than ever needed if the safety of the United States is really to be assured. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Mancheater, Vt., Aug. 16—I have read the first instalment of the strictly objective, impartial "Survey" of Communism in the Green Mountains published in the Rutland Herald, which, in common with the rest of Vermont journalism was caught flatfooted by the exposure that followed the latimoré case in the Rutland Herald and the White River Valley Herald, which circulate in the area of the principal Communist infestation, immediately took a defensive attitude.

They defended the fair renown of Vermont against facts that had exposed their professional police and by implication they defended themselves for having underestimated the Communist activity in their state.

The Rutland Herald's survey is written by William Gilman, described as a reporter of 20 years' experience, including service with the U.P. and the New York Times in China. This would indicate nothing politically.

It is further stated that Mr. Gilman wrote a book about Alaska called "Our Hidden Front" for which he was commended by Dr. Ernest Gruening, an governor. Doctor Gruening was an admirer of Harold Ickes, whose attitude toward Communism has been broadminded. Doctor Gruening's approval is not necessarily a guarantee. A reporter might be a little hard up for honors in citing Mr. Gilman, but said that one on the line these further facts are pertinent.

The White River Valley Herald reported that Mrs. Vilhjálmur Stefansson, the wife of the Arctic explorer, said that about one year ago Ordey Southard, whom Senator Joe McCarthy before the Senate labeled a Communist, was granted permission to study in the Stefansson's private library books about the Arctic region. Mrs. Stefansson said Southard was an anthropologist who had studied at the University of Alaska. The White River Herald reaffirmed McCarthy's charge that Southard was a Communist candidate for office and that he attended Harvard and graduated from the University of Alaska "where he is joined in anthropology and archeology."

Alaska is an extremely vulnerable area, Communist propaganda has done away with the proposition that Alaska is actually still Russian territory because the czar who told it to the United States had no authority to pass a valid title.

It seems clear that Mrs. Stefansson and her husband and her know Southard's political background when they let him consult their Arctic material in their private library. However, the fanshans would not permit any American to consult their information on any subject and any Russian who permitted a non-Communist American to study privately with them on the Arctic would be put to death. Mrs. Stefansson says that, according to the White River Herald, that Southard, a scholar educated in Alaska and, of course, Harvard, was allowed to do so, and, a year later, by sheer coincidence, the same Southard bodied up and bled from Stefansson's arm as he lay in a hospital, a half-interest in a farm and real estate property in the now notorious Red belt of the Green Mountains. Littlemore and Stefansson are old, intimate friends. Stefansson is named many times in the records of the House Committee on Un-American Activities but has Senate labeled a Communist, was not been identified as a Communist, Latimore has been charged with being a Soviet spy by Senator McCarthy speaking on the Senate floor and in committee.

He took cognizance of this charge to the extent of a book of denial which, naturally, has received priceless free advertising from the New York Herald Tribune and New York Times.

The public is asked to believe that it was by mere coincidence that Latimore obtained half-interest in the Vermont property from Stefananson, with his record, and sold it to Southard, of all people, with his record.

Mr. Gilman, the great authority on Alaska as "our hidden front," made no reference to these interesting factors in his opening essay. The article minimizes the whole situation with a familiar, heavy-handed line of humor which attempts to ridicule exposures and those who make them.

Mr. Gilman reports that he discovered only a hot-bed of damaging gossip and rumor.

The scare has reached the point where some wondered whether if they dared attend Bethel's barbecue where several hundred gather to eat Angus beef because suspects might be present and that might be "guilt by association," he wrote. "Or take the man wondering if he should bale hay for a neighbor whose wife took her child to the Randolph playground where suspects also bring their children."

These droll sallies are a commentary on the Rutland Herald's estimate of the intelligence of the shrewd Vermont Yankee. He supposed to believe that they disposed of the coincidences have set forth and other information of equal force.

British Destroyer Battles China Reds For Half Hour

Hong Kong, Aug. 17 (AP)—The British destroyer Concord and Chinese shore batteries fought a 30-minute gun duel today in the second clash between British warships and Red artillerymen on the approaches to Hong Kong. After the Concord battle it was officially reported that the navy frigate Whitehead Bay exchanged fire Aug. 2 with gun emplacements on Lingding Island.

The Concord fought with batteries on three islands—Tallam, Puntin and Lingding. Her captain said she fired in self defense after Red batteries opened up.

Royal Navy officers said there was one minor casualty and no damage to the ship as it steamed into Hong Kong.

Red shore batteries have been quick to fire on ships recently. On three successive days last week merchant ships were shelled. They were British, American and Norwegian.

It was estimated the Reds fired three-pounders at the Concord. The destroyers fired much more powerful 4.7 inch guns.

The islands from which the Chinese fired are about 12 miles south of Hong Kong and six miles west of the spot where the American freighter Steel Rover, the British merchantman Hangsang and the Norwegian freighter Pleasantville were fired on last week.

It was reported yesterday that the Chinese Reds have warned all foreign ships and planes not to infringe on Chinese territory.

This was the first reported exchange of gunfire between a British warship and the Chinese Communists since April, 1949. At that time, the cruiser London, the destroyer Consort and the frigates Black Swan and Amethyst came under Communist shore fire in the Yangtze river. In all, 43 British sailors were killed and more than 80 wounded in the 1949 engagement.

This Woman Learned It Wasn't Bank Gag

Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP)—The Waynesboro First National Bank and Trust Company set up a display over one of its cages, advertising: "Special—Today Only $1.98 over a stack of crisp new $2 bills."

The display went up when the bank opened at 9 a. m. yesterday. Hundreds read the sign, laughed and walked on. Finally, at 2:30 p. m., a half-hour before closing, an unidentified woman stepped up and made a purchase of the special.

It was no gag. She made two cents on the transaction.

Peace Talks Go On in Auto Strike

Detroit, Aug. 17 (AP)—Peace talks in the three-day-old strike of 8,000 Packard workers moved on today.

There were no settlement predictions, but state and federal mediators said that progress was "encouraging."

The C.I.O. United Auto Workers went on strike last Monday night, rejecting a Packard offer which included a five cents hourly wage increase, pensions embracing social security and other benefits.

It was not disclosed which issues in particular were being settled in the industry's first major strike in three months. However, the union has been

Embargo Placed On Soviet Cargo

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—The United States Lines has placed an embargo on all Russian shipments after Boston longshoremen refused to unload one of its vessels carrying $350,000 worth of Soviet crabmeat.

On Monday New York city stevedores refused to unload a $250,000 crabmeat cargo from the Cunard liner Parthia. The longshoremen then adopted a resolution not to handle goods coming from Russia.

Yesterday, A.F.L. longshoremen in Boston would not take off the $350,000 cargo from the U. S. Lines' S.S. American Manufacturer. The ship is en route to

Plans to Return East

Lone Pine, Calif., Aug. 17 (AP)—A sorrowing Libby Holman Reynolds planned today to return east where the ashes of her son, Christopher, will be sent for interment. The body of the 17-year-old tobacco heir was brought off Mt. Whitney last night and sent to Los Angeles for cremation, together with the body of Steven Wasserman, also 17, his companion in their ill-fated attempt to scale the nation's loftiest peak.

Conn., and young Wasserman's to Coronar Eddie Blake said Reynolds' ashes will go to Stamford, Conn., and young Wasserman's to Philadelphia. Funeral arrangements were not disclosed.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Halifax Chronicle-Herald said today that the Canadian Navy is keeping a "close watch" on a foreign destroyer sighted off

Halifax. The Herald quoted naval officials as saying they had "nothing to issue" on the report. The story said naval planes had flown over the area where the destroyer was sighted. The aircraft carrier

Magnificent, which cleared port Tuesday for exercises, returned yesterday but it could not be learned immediately if the destroyer report had any connection with the return.

Says U. S. Has Ships

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—The navy which already has carried 40,000 men and 500,000 tons of military cargo to the Far East since war broke out in Korea, says the United States has enough ships to supply fighting forces there. Enough ships are available in the active and reserve fleets, a spokesman said yesterday to handle equipment and supplies for all U. S. forces in the Korean theater. He added that a worldwide war would call for more merchant type ships.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—

Military demands, spurred by the possibility of atomic warfare, are straining the facilities of some plants making the newer drugs, trade sources say.

While others, which had cut back when facilities over-reached civilian demand are stepping up production again to meet heavy government orders.

The drug industry is in much better position today to care for the medical needs of the nation than in 1940, trade sources agree. But they add that a sudden all-out war could overtax some facilities, particularly those of the newer miracle drugs still in the growth stages of production.

And global war might cut off some sources of drugs for America, although perhaps not so critically as in the last all-out conflict. Since then the government has been stockpiling some—such as quinine—and finding synthetics for others—such as Vitamin A and narcotics.

Opens New Needs

The A-bomb has opened up new medical needs. Drug company scientists are trying out new compounds to meet them, according to Francis C. Brown, president of Schering Corp. Bloomfield, N. J. This former German firm is owned and operated by the U. S. Alien Property Custodian.

Burns will be one of the chief problems after an atomic explosion. The navy has developed a paraffin jelly for burn treatments. And a trade source says the government has ordered 10 million ampules of a new compound for treatment of burns. This forced makers of the new compound to abandon all other production and cancel unfilled orders to other drug houses, thus disrupting production in these plants.

Another A-bomb effect is radiation sickness. Scientists are working on compounds they hope will combat this, and also on drugs which might help the human body to insulate itself against radioactivity.

Brown lists other drugs which would play a war role: The antibiotics (which were contributed by U. S. research and in the production of which we lead the world); hormones for which we now have synthetic sources, the sulfas, vaccines, and vitamins.

Might Cut Off Quinine

World-wide fighting might cut off our sources of quinine, some of the botanicals and narcotics (although the government has been trying to stockpile them). Sources of certain of the glands might be cut off. Much of our insulin, for instance, comes from vitamin oils A and E also come in part from outside the United States.

A survey of manufacturers and suppliers shows that several of the new drugs which would be important in a total war are in short supply, especially those used only experimentally so far. One company manufacturing a gall bladder preparation says that a government order of only one million ampules could not be filled at this time without disrupting all other production.

Some Producers Convert

When penicillin was in oversupply six months ago some producers converted to streptomycin and aureomycin. War would increase greatly the demand for penicillin, and the trade thinks the loss of the facilities would then be felt quickly.

But Dr. Charles E. Dutcher, medical director of Schenley Laboratories says penicillin production in the United States has been stepped up to a record 17 billion units a month. It is being flown in large quantities to the Korean front.

The drug industry's over-all capacity and ability to expand are impressive. For instance, the drug and pharmaceuticals industry in 1939 employed a little more than 24 thousand persons and shipped $386,357,000 worth of products. This had increased to around 55 thousand persons by 1947 and more than $1 billion in products, and is still growing at a rapid rate.

One of the reasons for the American industry's forward strides was the decline of the German industry after the First World War, trade sources say. German pharmaceutical scientists began coming here between the First and Second World Wars. Some left Germany to escape future wars, some left to escape Hitler.

Elmer H. Bobst, president of Warner-Hudnut Inc., says this had much to do with expansion of American research and production.

ting the U. S. industry ahead of the rest of the world. He adds that the United States is training a better crop of young scientists now and offers better teaching in the schools than a generation back.

Your Taxes, Who Pays And Where Money Goes

By HARRY O'DONNELL
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—The state of New York gives you a month to recover from paying your federal income tax on March 15.

The state income tax is due April 15.

But it's not quite as bad as it sounds. Washington and Albany try to make it as convenient as possible for you to meet these mandatory obligations to government.

With Uncle Sam, the full amount of your income tax is due March 15. But he offers you a painless way to pay—deductions from your paycheck during the year, so the tax is paid by March 15.

The state has no withholding system. But you don't have to pay the full amount on April 15. You can, if you choose, pay in quarterly installments in the following 12 months.

During the fiscal year of 1949-50, the personal income tax brought the state more revenue than any other single tax.

The various business taxes and a package of excise taxes produced more revenue as a group. No one tax in these groups however, brought the state more revenue.

New York state picked up a record $985,787,000 in taxes in the last fiscal year.

Of that, $262,915,000 came from personal income tax.

Eight different "general business" taxes netted the state $251,158,000.

Another $273,252,000 came from consumption taxes—on cigarettes, alcoholic beverages, gasoline and motor vehicles.

New York is one of 31 states using a personal income tax. The state income tax is levied at graduated rates, ranging from two to seven per cent of your taxable income. That means after you have taken credits for personal and dependency exemptions and many allowable deductions.

The tax rate then is two per cent on the first $1,000. It jumps one per cent of each additional $2,000 of taxable income, the maximum of seven per cent being reached on taxable incomes over $9,000.

"Capital gains," as distinct from personal income from your job, are taxed separately at one-half the normal tax rate.

A capital gain can result from the sale or exchange of capital assets, like a house for example.

Since 1942, the state has been cutting the percentage of income tax collection. Because it sounds nice the state calls it "forgiveness." There was a 25 per cent "cut" in 1941-42 and it was 50 per cent in 1945-47. The "forgiveness" is now 10 per cent.

This "forgiveness" business means that the state income tax now is being collected at 90 per cent of the so-called normal of pre-war rate.

Who pays the state's personal income tax? About 2,700,000 people did last year.

What are the state's business taxes?

There is a corporation franchise tax on about 154,000 "ordinary" business corporations.

There also are corporation taxes on other types of business, such as utilities, real estate corporations, insurance companies and certain co-operatives.

There are two different bank taxes, a tax on insurance premiums, a tax on organizing corporations and a tax on unincorporated business.

The state also collects a tax on the sale of stock and on the estates of dead taxpayers, if they leave enough.

Prize fights and motion pictures also are subject to state tax. So is pari-mutuel betting at race tracks.

The state tax collector, who doesn't have to select the winning

NOW IT'S RADIOACTIVE MOSQUITOES—In Turlock, Calif., Rene Zenther, left, holds a container of a radioactive substance which will be placed on a specially selected group of mosquito larvae as part of an experiment to learn more about the insect's habits. When the mosquitoes reach maturity they will be collected in special light traps nearby. Lawrence Schmelzer, right, holds Geiger counter to the solution to see that it is not dangerous to animal or human life.

U. S. Fliers Take Girl Hero to Jap Hospital

Tokyo, Aug. 17 (AP)—A young Korean girl was flown to Japan

by the air corps contrary to regulations. But the army is looking the other way.

The girl guided five wounded Americans of the Second Division to safety after they were cut off near the Pohang air field. Snipers wounded her on the way back. She collapsed at a field dressing station.

The 35th Fighter Group ignored regulations and flew her to a hospital in Japan.

Canned Goods Prices Go Up As Military Orders Increase

(By The Associated Press)

Canned fruit and vegetable prices pushed higher this week and retailers forecast more advances on the way.

Several meat cuts eased two to 10 cents a pound in some stores—particularly beef items—while poultry, eggs and dairy products were mostly unchanged from last week-end.

The uptrend in canned goods, however, was general all across the nation. It contrasted sharply with the gentle lower drift in the prices of several fresh fruits and vegetables which now are at or near the peak of the summer harvest and in peak supply.

A major reason for the higher canned goods prices was consumer war scare buying but to get the whole picture it's necessary to see what happened several months before the Korean outbreak.

Early this year, food distributors said, many canners were trimming their prices almost to bare production costs in an effort to get rid of surplus stocks carried over from the 1949 packs. Competition in the market also was keen at that time, and some of the biggest canners on the west coast were fighting for national brand leadership.

This need to sell off excess production also led many canners to reduce their running schedules this season. Growers in many cases cut back their crops. Wholesale and retailers let their stocks dwindle and generally adopted a hand-to-mouth buying policy.

Big Military Orders

Then came the Korean War, and consumer buying spurred food distributors tried to stock up, too, and purchasing for the military picked up sharply. So far this year, buyers for the armed services are reported to have asked west coast canners to bid on nearly as much food as the military ordered all last year. And buying in anticipation of the expanded army navy and air force has only begun.

In addition growers say their costs have climbed sharply. Packaging materials for example have gone up, and the men and women who pick fruits and vegetables are demanding more money to meet their own higher cost of living.

Food traders don't expect any serious shortages of canned goods to develop, although they agree that if military buying increases substantially, consumers may not always find all their favorite grades, varieties and brands on store shelves.

But retail prices can be expected to edge up further as retailers find it costs more to place their stocks of canned fruits and vegetables, these sources said.

Meat Eases Off

On the other hand, meat prices are expected to ease seasonally, beginning late this month, as more hogs and cattle begin coming to market. Wholesale prices already have tipped downward slightly from the peaks reached in July. And the American Meat Institute reported recently that a retail survey in the Chicago area showed prices declined two to 12 percent on various popular cuts—the 12 percent posted by center cut pork chops.

There were 34 per cent more cattle on feed lots in the midwest at the beginning of July than a year ago. This increase will begin coming to market in a few weeks and reach full volume in September, October and November.

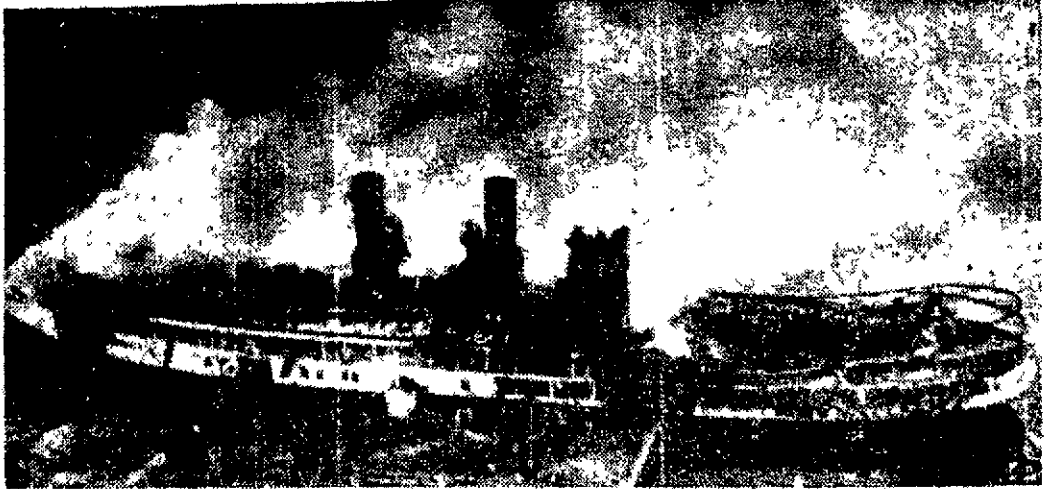

Weeding Out Cattle

Poorer grades of cattle, used for such products as hamburger, frankfurters and some canned meats, may be less abundant because cattle raisers are building up their herds in expectation of lively demand and good prices, some sources said.

With the spring hog crop larger than last year and corn plentiful, some livestock experts in Chicago estimate the total hog slaughter for all of this year will be about 8 per cent above 1949. The anticipated seasonal downturn in meat prices may be smaller than usual, however, because of military buying (meat eat more meat in the armed services than they do as civilians).

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index held unchanged for the third week in a row this week at 55.53—10.5 per cent above a year ago and the highest since late September of 1948. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Girden Is Found Dead

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Julius Girden, 51, owner of the Imperial Theatre in Brunswick, Md., was found dead yesterday in the Hotel New Yorker Police said he apparently had taken an overdose of sleeping pills. Police said he left a note saying he was despondent. He had registered Tuesday night as "Jay Girden" and was the subject of a missing persons search Monday night. His home was at 3950 47th street Long Island City. Before becoming owner of the Brunswick theatre two and one-half years ago, Girden was with Warner Brothers. He leaves his widow, a son and a daughter.

Japan's Oil Production

Crude oil production in Japan totaled 1,556,000 barrels in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1950, the fiscal year ended March 31, 1950, a 40 per cent increase over the previous year.

Woman Seeking Ban Against Racing Fish

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 17 (AP)—Miss William Guillem, who feels sorry for tired fish, says a court ban will be sought against the goldfish-racing interests.

The new sport, which you might call fishstake, began in an amusement pavilion on the boardwalk of this seaside resort.

The track is made of several parallel transparent water-filled tubes with a live goldfish in each. Plastic fishes with big jaws pop up at one end of the tube to scare them—and they're off!

Mrs. Guillem, who heads the Monmouth county chapter of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, says the racers are overworked and in danger of becoming groggy.

But Herman D. Post, who designed the game, says "the fish are required to do something that is only natural, and that's to swim." He said tired ones are benched in a rest tank.

Turn Deaf Ears to Plea On European Defense

London, Aug. 17 (AP)—The British and French governments have turned deaf ears to demands that they recall their parliaments from summer vacations immediately to deal with Europe in defense problems.

Former Premier Paul Reynaud yesterday urged Premier Rene Pleven to recall the French Assembly from the recess it began only 11 days ago. He is reported to have received the cold shoulder from Pleven. The Assembly is slated to reconvene Oct. 17.

Britain's Conservative leader Winston Churchill and Liberal head Clement Davies called on Prime Minister Attlee to summon Parliament right away. Attlee demurred. He already has ordered Commons to reconvene Sept. 12—a month earlier than usual.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Aug. 17.—Six Ulster County Grangers went on the tour of Long Island last week-end. They included Harold Story of Ulster Park, a former deputy; Vernon Barnhart, the present deputy; and Mrs. Barnhart of Kripplush, Isaac Graham and Mrs. Graham, the present juvenile deputy, of Stone Ridge and Mrs. Ernest Janson of High Falls. This tour was an innovation in New York state and aimed to strengthen the fraternal ties between the Grangers of Long Island and those of other parts of the state. Those from upstate who attended have the highest praise for those responsible for the planning of this trip and the friendliness and hospitality of all those they met. Approximately 500 miles of beautiful scenery, historic landmarks, and flourishing crops were viewed. Twenty-one cars and more than 100 Grangers went on the tour. The Long Island Agricultural and Technical School of Farmingdale opened their dormitories and their dining room when the tour was on that part of the island. The tour included both Montauk Point and Orient State Park as well as both the north and south shores of the island. In addition to the above mentioned places of interest, a large potato farm with its modern equipment, a duck farm with its assembly line type of raising as well as slaughtering them, an oyster packing plant, a frozen food packing plant, Grumman Aircraft plant, and Levittown, the veteran housing development on Hempstead Plains.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Take Guessing Out Wherever Possible

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"That's the craziest trick I've ever seen in my life," gasped North.
"That's nothing," said Pessimistic Pete. "Stick around, old fellow, and you'll see ever crazier tricks."
The trick to which North referred was the second trick of the hand shown today. I wonder how many readers will figure out what Pessimistic Pete actually did.
West's opening lead was the six of hearts, and dummy won with the queen. What is the craziest—and yet most sensible—thing that declarer can do at this point?
Pessimistic Pete was in no hurry to make his second play. After about a minute, however, he led a low diamond from the dummy! East won with the ten of diamonds and returned a spade. Pete won in his own hand, entered dummy with a trump, and ruffed a low diamond. He then drew the rest of the trumps and entered dummy with the ace of clubs.
The ace and kind of diamonds dropped East's remaining cards in that suit, allowing South to discard the last losing spades. The low diamonds were now good, but South needed only one of them in order to discard his losing club.
The remarkable play at trick two was not as crazy as it seemed. South wanted to establish the diamonds without losing control of trumps. He couldn't tell how either red suit was going to break.

The line of play adopted assured his contract against any 4-2 break in each of the red suits. He needed to ruff only one diamond after giving one away and therefore could stand a 4-2 trump break. Since the diamond ruff occurred on the second round, he didn't have to fear an over-ruff.
Pete might have made his contract by some risky line of play that involved guessing how the missing cards were distributed, but the line of play that he actually adopted required no guesswork and entailed no risks.

Everyone Likes Blueberry Pie

OPEN-FACED—Fresh blueberry pie with lattice top is a summertime treat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Those plump, outsized cultivated blueberries are crying out loud for pie shells. Better give them a kind answer. Then everyone will be happy.

Fresh Blueberry (or Huckleberry) Pie

Two tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 3/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 quart blueberries, pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie, 1 tablespoon butter.

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugars, salt and berries; let stand 15 minutes, or while pastry is being made. Line a 9-inch pie pan with 1/2 of the pastry rolled 1/8-inch thick. Fill pie shell with fruit mixture. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of pastry with cold water. Cut strips from rolled pastry and adjust in lattice across top of pie. Flute rim.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 45 minutes, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst. Note: For extra juicy fruit pies, serve them a little warm. For thicker pies, let cool about 4 hours or longer, before serving.

Ever try a sweet omelet for dessert? Time you did if your family relishes good things to eat.

Blueberry Omelet (2 servings)

To two egg yolks, slightly beaten, gradually beat in 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar. Add two teaspoons grated lemon peel. Fold into four egg whites, stiffly beaten with 1/4 teaspoon salt. Melt 1 1/2 teaspoons butter in a skillet. Pour in the omelet mixture. Cook over low heat, covered. While cooking slash across several times to permit heat to penetrate the slight bottom crust. When done but soft on the inside, crease through center with a knife. Add one cup cultivated blueberries. Carefully fold over on crease. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

TOMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Canned grapefruit juice, bacon and eggs, golden muffins, blueberry jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Chopped raw vegetables mixed with cottage cheese and sour cream, lettuce, toasted English muffins, fresh fruit bowl, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Beef and vegetable stew, or creamed tuna fish on toast, fried potatoes, green beans, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, crusty bread, butter or fortified margarine, blueberry pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

Sliced pickled beets are delicious served with hamburgers between toasted buns.

Approval Is Due

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—Legislation extending the Social Security program to some 10,000,000 more persons and boosting old age benefits for those already covered was due to receive final congressional approval today. Chairman George (D-Cal.) of the finance committee planned to call up for Senate action on a compromise version worked out by a Senate-

House Committee after the two branches passed varying bills. No major opposition was in sight.

Fair Program Is

during the night, officials reported.

Lasted Hour and Half
State Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenixia reported the storm in that area lasted an hour and a half, with rain and hail falling in great intensity. However, he said he received no reports of property damage.

The New York Telephone Company reported "normal" storm difficulties, but no "exceptional" reports of damage.

In Kingston, water flooded streets in several areas, and electric power was reported interrupted for a period and street lights were out on Broadway between Thomas and Hoffman streets, along Hoffman street and Pine Grove avenue. At Black Park, a number of youngsters were forced to seek shelter under the pavilion during the worst of the storm.

The fire department was called out once during the storm. At 8:15 p. m., a pole was reported burning near 438 Hushbough avenue. The call was referred to the Central Hudson.

Spectators Seek Shelter
Hundreds of spectators at the Ulster County Fair and Farmers' Field Day at Forsyth Park were forced to seek shelter when the rains descended. It was the first time since the fair was moved to Kingston that a two-day fair had been scheduled, and consequently it was the first evening that activities were in progress. A scheduled dance to music provided by courtesy of the Kingston Musicians' Union was rained out.

Exhibitors scurried to protect their livestock and other exhibits. One 4-H Club boy, Harold Baker of Kripplush, tucked his prize-winning calf in a blanket and remained with the animal all night.

As the fair grounds dried out this morning, a survey failed to disclose that any damage was done, and the fair was ready to re-open by 10 a. m. today.

Although indications were that some of last night's postponed activities will be held at Forsyth Park tonight, the fair will officially close at 5 p. m. Albert Kurdi, secretary of the sponsoring Agricultural Society, announced this morning.

Kurdi explained that most exhibitors felt it necessary to move their livestock from the grounds at 5 o'clock in order to get back home for the night.

Several commercial exhibitors, however, indicated to Kurdi that they desire to leave their exhibits open to the public this evening.

Kurdi said that the number of spectators on the fairgrounds when the rains came Wednesday evening was large enough that it appears almost certain that the two-day fair "is here to stay."

Worker Is Killed
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Scattered thundershowers rumbled over upstate New York today in the wake of hail and electrical storms that claimed one life and damaged homes and crops yesterday.

Margaret V. Manning, a 16-year-old migrant farm worker from Maycock, N. C., was struck by lightning yesterday as she ran across a bean field near Hamilton.

The most severe damage was reported in Steuben county. Crops were destroyed in a mile-square area near the village of Sonora. Windows were broken and several roofs were pierced in a 15-minute hail storm.

Sheriff Benjamin Balcom said the hail stones measured as much as 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Hail also fell in the Albany area, where heavy winds flooded several roads, including Route 9. Scattered power failures were reported in the Albany and Elmira areas.

Jury Agrees One Doesn't Have to Be

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—You don't have to be crazy just because you want to talk with President Truman, a jury decided yesterday.

On June 14, Miss Miriam L. Garth, 50, of San Francisco, tried to see Mr. Truman at the White House.

She explained she had planned to open a gift shop, and wanted to tell him a change in tariff regulations would help the sale of French products.

Miss Garth told the jury at a sanity proceeding that secret service men stopped her at the White House and took her to a hospital.

A government psychiatrist testified that Miss Garth needed treatment.

But her attorney, James F. O'Donnell, said:

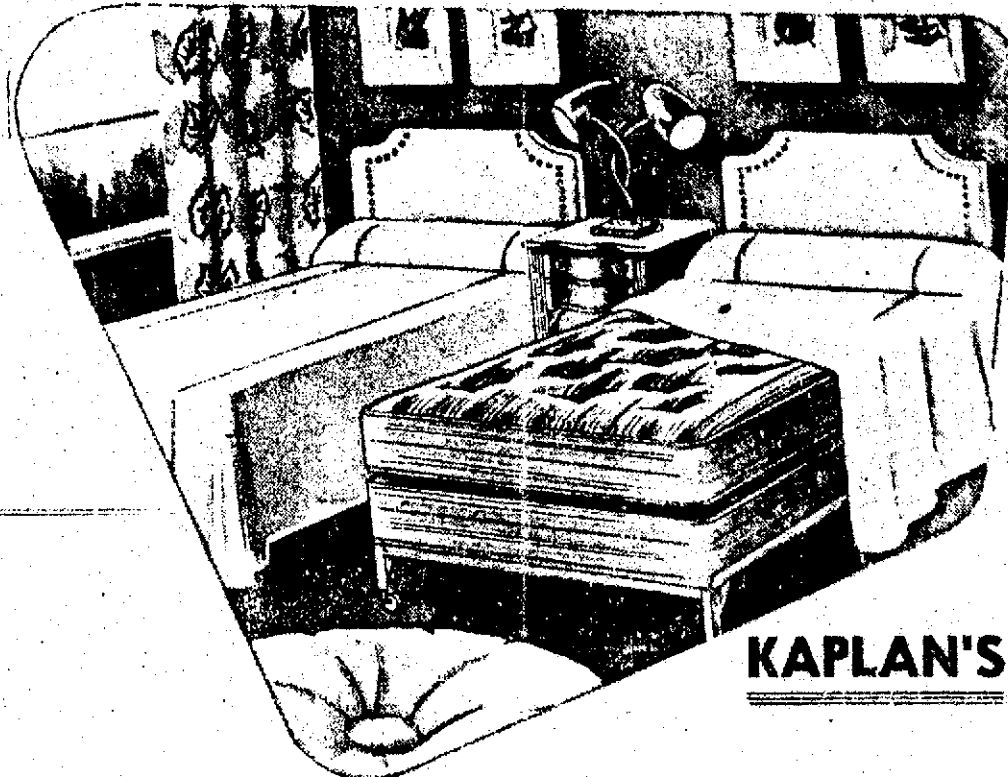

"The idea of a citizen going to see the President in the White House is not indicative of insanity."

Mr. Truman is known as the "common man's president" and the prevailing belief is that some citizens get in to see him.

The jury agreed.

Dr. Lampe Dies
Philadelphia, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Rev. D. William E. Lampe, 75, national secretary of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, and an internationally known Protestant leader, collapsed and died yesterday of a heart attack.

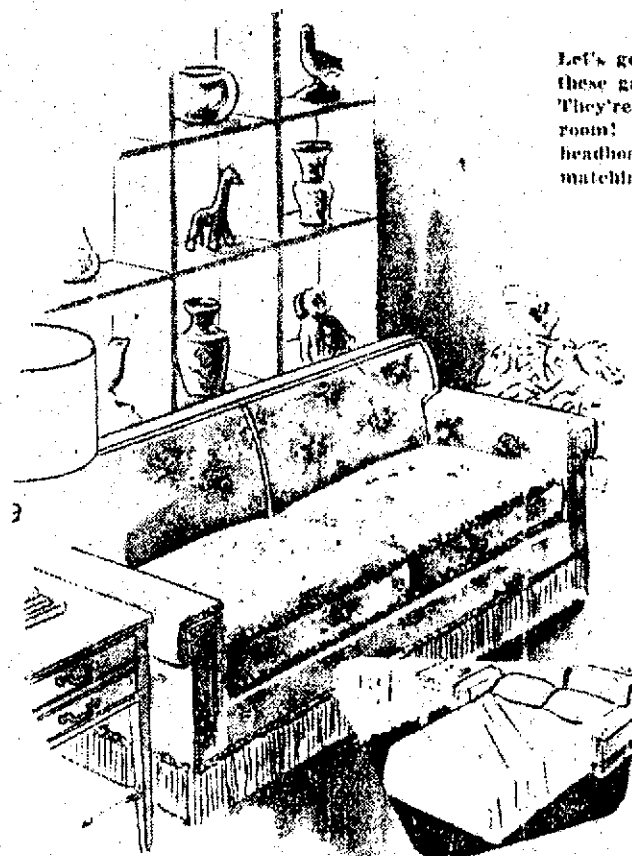

New York city contains 38 islands.

NEW ATOM CHIEF—Carlston Shugg, above, has been named acting general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission. He succeeds Carroll L. TICKETS TO LIFE

Two North Korean soldiers show the "safe conduct pass" that convinced them to give up to American troops. The passes, with the UN insignia, promised that they would be treated in a civilized manner. GIs are questioning the two prisoners. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff correspondent Stanley Trelick). (NEA Telephoto).

30,000 North Koreans Push On . . .

that the army doughboys had reached their objectives. They are on the marines' northern flank.

MacBeth reported the doughboys were digging in for a possible counter-attack from 12,000 river-crossing Reds in the bridgehead during Thursday night.

The marines were withdrawn 27 miles from their Korean south coastal gains and moved to the Nakdong river line to meet the attack.

They hit hard and fast at a grassy hill to spearhead an American offensive against the 72-day-old Red bridgehead over the river below Changyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

Buildup Is Reported

As the marines fought in their bloodiest battle of the war, A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton, with the 25th Infantry Division left to defend the south coastal area, reported a buildup of the Red forces shattered by U. S. forces before the marines were withdrawn. Swinton said an attack on U. S. defense positions west of Masan, 27 airline miles east of Pusan, the No. 1 U. S. seaport on the southeastern tip of the Korean peninsula, was building up.

The reinforced U. S. 25th Infantry Division was alerted for a possible North Korean attempt to break through toward Pusan.

Red armor was reported rushing to that area to reinforce the war-torn Red Sixth Division.

Battling all along the line, the Americans and South Koreans shored up where they could.

Outside of Waegwan, a rubbled no-man's-city of 20,000 the hard-fighting U. S. First Cavalry Division retook a ridge of a hill designated as 303 which the Reds had wrested from them earlier Thursday.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way for the hill.

On the north-central front two South Korean divisions—the Sixth and Eighth—bore the brunt of Red attacks.

The Eighth hurled back the Reds without losing ground. The Sixth was forced to give "less than a mile," General MacArthur's headquarters said.

The Reds were pouring from the Waegwan area saturated Wednesday by a mass bombing by B-29s.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle at the Waegwan front reported 32 U. S. prisoners of war, with hands tied behind their backs, were slain by the Reds.

Boyle said the 32 were in a group of 37 men the Communists had marked for death. Five lived to tell the story.

This massacre occurred in the area that was bombed by B-29s Wednesday and may have been a retaliation measure.

Up Against Crossings

The marines battling for the cliff outside Changyong were up against a part of 12,000 river-crossing Reds who bulged out seven miles east of Nakdong and clawed to cut the Taegu supply line from Pusan.

The slowly advancing marines, their wounded and stretcher-bearers targets of Red snipers, weathered a Red artillery attack.

U. S. artillery poured a constant barrage into the Red positions on the hill. Some of the Communists came halfway down the slope to fire on stretcher-bearers carrying out the wounded marines.

When the stretcher-bearers ran short, South Koreans were pressed into service to help evacuate the lethargic wounded.

The hill commands one of the vital sections of the Nakdong river bridgehead in the heart of the 120-mile Korean battleline.

Navy pilots from Task Force 77 said 34 enemy trucks were destroyed and 26 were damaged. They tried to get four trains with rockets but the locomotive made it to tunnels in safety.

Allied airmen continued to chop up North Korean supply arteries and dropped their bombs on fixed targets far to the rear.

Three military supply dumps were blown up and military warehouses were hit by aerial cannon fire.

Fifth Air Force pilots said they damaged eight enemy tanks, 32 trucks, nine locomotives and three artillery pieces in ground support attacks.

Russians' 'Grab'

try to drive the Red occupation forces out—which would mean fighting with Russia directly and which appears to be an unlikely course.

Informed officials based their speculation about Russia's probable action on the fact that Korea has great strategic importance in relation to Manchuria and the Soviet Pacific ports. They believe that if Moscow cannot dominate the country through Korean Communists it is determined to rule the northern half by occupation.

Two Rosendale Men Injured in Car Crash

Three persons were injured in a two-automobile collision on Route 208 near Kerhonkson Wednesday afternoon.

State police said the injured were Otto Graves, 68, of Easton, Pa.; Vincent Steeley, 19, of Rosendale; and Jack Gerber, 21, of Rosendale, all of whom suffered lacerations. They were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment. Troopers from the Highland sub-station said Graves was a passenger in a sedan driven by Adelaid Paris, of Easton, that collided with a coupe driven by Joseph Steeley, Jr., 22, of Troy. The two Rosendale men were riding in the Steeley vehicle, troopers said. No arrests were made. The accident occurred at 3:10 p. m. Wednesday, one and one-half miles north of the village of Kerhonkson.

Sweepstake Winner
Mrs. Leon McLoughlin of 391 Main street, Saugerties, was the sweepstake prize winner in the homecoming department of the Ulster County Fair and Farmers' Field Day, it was announced today by Mrs. William Powers, department superintendent. The sweepstakes prize is given to the individual getting the largest number of prize points in the entire department. Mrs. McLoughlin had a total of 51 points.

Population Is Higher
Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—The country's population has risen more than half a million since the 1950 census was taken, and is now above 151,000,000. The Census Bureau said today its monthly estimates show a rise of 588,000 since April 1, the date of the preliminary report on the 1950 census. The population then was 150,500,000. All figures are subject to later revisions, the board said.

Gomez Is Ill
New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Former President Miguel Mariano Gomez of Cuba is seriously ill at the Neurological Institute here following a brain tumor operation. Gomez, 60, received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church yesterday. He was the first elected president of Cuba after the overthrow of Dictator-President Gerardo Machado in 1933. He retired from politics in 1941.

Democrats Look For Governor and Mayoral Positions

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—New York Democratic leaders started jockeying for position today in a race to nominate candidates for governor and mayor in the November election.

City and state leaders met and discussed the situation for the first time since the announcement that Mayor William O'Dwyer would leave his post at the end of this month. President Truman has said he will nominate O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico.

Democratic National Committee member Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx said his county's candidate for governor is Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing.

Another county chairman, James A. Roe of Queens, put in a vote for Judge Charles W. Froese of the State Court of Appeals. And Carmine G. Desapio, Tammany Hall leader, said his choice for governor is O'Dwyer, even though the mayor only yesterday announced he is through with politics "as of now."

The race for New York's mayoralty, like that for governorship, was wide open.

Desapio mentioned five possible mayoral candidates — O'Dwyer, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Robert Wagner, Jr., State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora and City Council President Vincent Impellitteri.

Impellitteri, now city council president, will become acting mayor on O'Dwyer's resignation. He already has announced he will seek election to the post in November.

Wagner is Manhattan borough president and the son of the former U. S. senator.

Home Is in the Mill
Decatur, Georgia (AP)—A professor and his wife have a new home in an old grist mill here. Dr. Stephen W. Gray is professor in Emory University, his wife is an instructor. The old mill they are turning into a home was built in 1830. Its great oak beams and stone foundations are still sound. The couple have done most of the work of remodeling themselves, although they have had the help of some of their students. The building, four miles from Decatur, housed a mill that was important in turning out supplies to the Confederate Army during the Civil War.

Praise O'Dwyer, He Credits His Board for Success

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer, soon to be nominated ambassador to Mexico, delivered a tearful farewell speech at a board of estimate meeting today. Though he does not plan to resign until President Truman sends his nomination to the diplomatic post around September 1, the mayor told the board that he was saying goodbye through it.

Borough President James J. Lons of the Bronx, opened the tributes to O'Dwyer and wished him well. Others, including those who had opposed the mayor on different occasions, joined in praising O'Dwyer's leadership.

One of them was John Cashmore, borough president of Brooklyn, who recently relinquished the Kings county Democratic leadership at O'Dwyer's insistence. The city of New York is the best run city, not only in the United States but in the world, and that's because of your leadership," Cashmore told the mayor. "We hope God will take a liking to you, but not too soon."

O'Dwyer announced that the meeting would be his official farewell, except for a radio broadcast at a date not yet set. It would be untrue and unjust to the members of this board of estimate were I to permit this program to stand as mine," the mayor said after several speakers praised his administration. He gave much of the credit to the members of the board, stating they had worked as a team.

"I haven't words to say more," he concluded. "I have tears, but you don't want them. Thank you."

O'Dwyer sat down and dried his eyes with a handkerchief.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Railroad stocks rolled in front of an advancing market today.

The market started ahead slowly, picked up speed for a while in mid-morning, and then coasted along.

Trailing close behind the tails were steels, motors, rubbers, oils, and an assortment of industrial and manufacturing shares.

Gains ranged to an extreme of around 5 1/2 a share in the case of Volatile Nickel Plate Railway.

Most advances were limited to about $2 a share or less.

Business was lively at times, with turnover tending to expand when prices moved forward.

Brokerage quarters reported that a good deal of the day's business was accounted for by professional traders.

A strong element of caution was still apparent, however, in part because of the delay in Congress on war legislation.

High prices were paid for Santa Fe, St. Paul common and preferred, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Wheeling Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Air Reduction, American Cyanamid, duPont, Dew Chemical, Worthington Pump, American Sugar, Gillette, Lehigh Valley Railroad, Canadian Pacific, Standard Oil (N.J.), Gulf Oil, American Telephone, Western Union, General Electric, Johns-Manville and South Porto Rico Sugar.

This Is the H-Bomb

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(A.P. Science Editor)

New York, Aug. 17 (AP)—Hydrogen bombs are sometimes called atomic fish, while atom bombs are atomic matches.

The atomic fish are the particles which form all atoms. There are only three particles—neutrons, protons and electrons. Two or more of them get together to form any atom.

Why are they like fish? Because they change weight, like fish in or out of water. A fisherman never weighs his catch under water, where the buoyancy would cut the weight.

The three atomic particles act just like the fish. They weigh less when they enter the nucleus of an atom than when they are outside. In this case only the neutrons and protons count because electrons have almost no weight.

The loss of mass when these particles join up in atoms makes the H-bomb. Hydrogen has fewer of these particles than helium. The mass they lose in forming helium turns mostly into heat. This heat may be hotter even than the center of stars.

Buoyancy Is Not Reason

The reason for the atomic mass is not buoyancy. The mass is given up by the newcomer particle because he doesn't need it. His loss is replaced by a force inside the atomic nucleus, which grasps the new particles and holds them tightly packed.

The situation is like a man out at night with a lantern, returning to an electric light house. When he enters he leaves the lantern outside. Electricity does the inside lighting.

The atomic nucleus is the house. The lantern is the heat that makes the H-bomb. The "inner light" is a mysterious force, a binding energy which seems to be the most powerful thing in the universe. This force exists only inside atomic nuclei.

Fusion requires protons to enter the atomic nucleus. This is difficult because protons all carry similar electrical charges. They repel each other. Two as close as they must be inside an atom repel each other with a force of about 40 pounds.

So it is evident that a proton has to be traveling at terrific speed to pass through this resistance. That is why fusion won't start until the temperature is a million or more degrees. The heat gives the protons the speed needed to enter nuclei.

To start the fusion it is only necessary to pack the heavy forms of hydrogen around an A-bomb, whose initial temperatures reach a hundred million degrees.

Next Step Is Puzzle

The next step is the great puzzle. How to keep the hydrogen atoms from being blown apart by the A-bomb before they have time to fuse. To do this they must be packed inside some sort of a case. There is nothing in creation that will not instantly vaporize when bomb heat.

The problem is like trying to make a gun with a trigger and powder, but no barrel. The A-bomb is the trigger. The hydrogen is the powder. There just isn't any barrel.

The solution may lie in delaying the melting of the bomb case for even a few billionths of a second, an interval that may permit the fast-acting forms of heavy hydrogen, deuterium and tritium, to fuse into helium.

Only the lightest-weight elements can be used for fusion. Even in the sun no process is known for fusing anything except hydrogen.

The A-bomb is like a match because it is started with hardly any heat. It is started by neutrons, which split atoms. These neutrons have no electrical charges. Hence they can enter atoms without hindrance. Neutrons as cool as the room in which you read this can and do split atoms.

But the only atoms which will split with these neutrons are the very heaviest, namely plutonium and two forms of uranium.

These facts limit nuclear bombs to two types, A and H. No other type is in sight. In fact, competent scientists figure there may never be any others.

There is a definite limit to the power of an A-bomb. But there is no apparent limit to an H-bomb.

DIVORCE PROBLEM OF BRIDE

A daughter of the divorced writes: "My mother lives in one state, my father in another and I'm working in still another. I am, however, only in my mid-twenties. Whose name should be used on (a) my wedding invitations and (b) announcement of the marriage?"

Under all normal conditions of divorce the mother's name alone is used. In your case the best solution may be to invite your guests verbally as well as by personal note. Very correct is the wording: "The honor of your presence is requested at the marriage of, etc." (b) The same rules apply.

Birthday Presents

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been invited to a birthday party (surprise) for a girl friend and given the privilege of bringing my own boy friend. Should I write his name with mine on the card enclosed with the birthday gift I'm buying, or should he take his own? He doesn't know her.

Answer: Since he is a stranger to her, you alone take a present.

Asking Man to a Dance

Dear Mrs. Post: When a girl asks a man to go to a dance, under all circumstances is she supposed to buy the tickets for this?

Answer: The fact that she has asked him to go implies that the tickets are for a dance given at her club, sorority or for a benefit for an organization in which she is interested. Therefore she buys the tickets.

Wedding Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it only proper for the bridegroom and best man to wear formal day clothes if the bride is not in real bridal dress? I am wearing an afternoon dress and having one attendant. I am a widow and the wedding is not going to be large but it will be in church.

Answer: It is correct at a church wedding for the bridegroom and his attendants to wear their formal clothes if they wish.

Would you like to know the details for a small wedding? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet "E-R, Today's Typical Wedding," includes information for a home wedding. Final Concert of Woodstock Quartet Here

Features 'Fine Virtuosity' of Pianist

The Woodstock String Quartet played the final concert in its Kingston summer series last night in the parish hall of the St. James Church.

The program, which will also be played in Woodstock tonight, opened with the Quartet in C minor by Engelbert Roentgen, the eminent cellist of the Woodstock Quartet. Romantic in feeling and with charming melodic content, the work was given a highly artistic reading by the composer and his colleagues. The slow parts were notable for their poetic quality and the rhythmic movements had drive and power to offer an agreeable contrast.

The piece was well received and the composer came out to acknowledge the enthusiastic applause.

The second number brought to the platform the first of the two guest performers of the evening, the noted keyboard artist, Joseph Wolman.

Mr. Wolman played first three pieces by Brahms, the Caprice in G minor, and the Intermezzo in B flat and E flat minor. These had the sturdiness and strength as well as the amazing poetic qualities that inhere in the music of Brahms. The second offering comprised three short studies by Chopin, a contemporary Russian Here Mr. Wolman displayed a fine virtuosity and throughout his numbers, a remarkable pianistic touch.

In response to the prolonged applause he added a Chopin waltz, and then the famous etude in B major by the same composer, which were greatly enjoyed.

After a short word of greeting, there appeared next the second guest, Miss Evelyn Torres of near-by Lake Hill. Miss Torres, a young contralto already known to Kingston audiences, sang eight short gypsy songs by Brahms. Her voice is fresh and charming, and she sings with spirit and excellent intonation. She was fortunate in the artistry of her accompanist, Mr. Wolman, who gave her admirable support.

Her offerings were very warmly received.

After intermission, the quartet and Mr. Wolman joined forces in the Dvorak Quintet. Here Mr. Wolman once more demonstrated his versatility by turning in as notable a performance in chamber music as he did in Miss Torres' accompaniments and as a soloist. The familiar quintet was played with fine finish and full realization of its beauties. In the second movement, Mr. More especially distinguished himself in the viola solo portions.

This concert seemed a fitting close to a series that has been

Fashion Designer

Runs Into Trouble

Nice, France, Aug. 17 (AP)—An encounter with customs inspectors and several hours of questioning by police may cost Elsa Schiaparelli, Paris fashion designer, more than $1,500.

The widely-known modiste was detained yesterday as she was about to board a plane for Tunis. The police asked her about $8,500 worth of jewels she reported stolen while playing bridge Aug. 5 at the French Riviera home of American industrialist Norman Winston, next door to the Prince Ali Khan-Rita Hayworth chateau. Gem losses by other guests brought the reported theft total to $60,000.

Police said some of the jewels which Miss Schiaparelli reported stolen were found yesterday in her luggage. The 53-year-old fashion leader explained these were pieces she thought were taken but later found in a bureau drawer.

When I found the jewels, it seemed unnecessary to notify the police because the most important piece was still missing," she told newsmen.

Police said they confiscated $1,485 in American currency which Miss Schiaparelli failed to declare. In addition, she faced a fine of $148.50.

It was the designer's second brush with customs officials. While enroute from the U. S. to Vichy, France, Jan. 7, 1941, a tin of vitamins and $2,360 were seized from her by authorities when the liner Siboney paused at Bermuda. The vitamins were returned, but the government declared the money forfeited.

Use well-flavored broth or stock as a base for a cream sauce; about one-half broth or stock and one-half milk is a good proportion for the liquid.

Maid of honor was L. Lorraine Gardner, 50 Johnston avenue, wearing pale green ankle length organdy, with matching bonnet and mitts, and carrying a cascade of pale pink roses. Antoinette and Theodora Venditti, sisters of the bride, were gowned in similar styles.

Robert Herlihy, 68 West O'Reilly street, was best man, and ushers were William Herlihy, another brother, and Stanley H. Dempsey of Albany avenue.

After a buffet luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel for 100 guests, the couple left for a wedding trip to New England and Canada. For traveling, the bride wore a navy linen suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from the Academy of St. Ursula, and Our Lady of Victory School of Nursing. She was formerly on the staff of the Benedictine Hospital.

The groom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is a senior at Fairfield University, Fairfield, Conn., where the couple will live.

In trying to choose a spot to eat while traveling, hunt for a place that is busy and where the customers are relaxed. The attend-

Boulevards Set for Crucial Game With Bowlodrome Nine Tonight

Both Squads Need Victory for Berth in Shaughnessy

Rained out of a big chance to cement its holdings on fourth place in the City League Baseball standings, Boulevard Club will try it again tonight at the Athletic Field meeting the fifth place Bowlodrome outfit.

Last night's game was called in the top of the third because of darkness with the Boulevards out on top by 10 to 2.

Talking with a Freeman reporter this morning, Manager Danny Perlmutter, the Boulevard skipper, said he hadn't made up his mind as yet as to tonight's probable lineup.

"If Bill Tierney can throw that ball, he'll be on the firing line," Perlmutter said. "If not," he added, "Ralph Tortorella, the Highland ace, will start."

Tierney has been carrying the brunt of the pitching chores for the fourth place Boulevards. His last 4 to 1 decision to Arlio Barnes and the front-running Chez Emile squad Tuesday night and whether he'll be ready to throw again tonight remains to be seen.

Opposing either Tierney, the converted infielder, or Tortorella will probably be Jackie Watzka, the East Kingston fire-baller who is the No. 1 pitcher on the Bowlodrome roster.

Last night's postponement was a tough break for the Boulevards and may go a long way in deciding the club's chances of a berth for the post-season Shaughnessy playoffs.

Morgans, always a top threat in the twilight circuit, have dropped 12 out of 13 starts this summer and were pegged in make it 13 out of 14 last night.

Tonight's scheduled tussle, weather permitting, is extremely vital to both teams.

A win for the Boulevards would practically clinch a berth for the playoffs while a triumph for the Bowlodrome nine would send them into a two-way tie for fourth place. The Boulevards are currently in fourth with an 8-4 record while the Bowlodromes held down fifth with a 7-5 clip. By winning tonight, the Boulevards would also jump into a two-way tie for third place with Old Capital Motors.

Brown Tops Field In Rhinebeck '25'

Ray "O" Brown, heavy footed stock car ace from White Plains, has high hopes of scoring his second straight victory Saturday night at the Rhinebeck Speedway.

Brown is the fellow, you know, who captured last week's thrilling 100-lap United Stock Car Club championship race.

Ray now has a big lead on all other drivers in the point standings for the 1935 title. He has won 17 main events this season.

Popular Bob Devine of Washington, Conn., who pressed Brown for 98 laps of the marathon will be back in action, along with such popular favorites as Jocko Maggiano, Stan Disbrow, Larry Shurtler, Hal McCarty, Russ Goide and many others.

Cough Halts Debut

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Noon Irish-bred wonder horse who beat the famed Citation four times in California, will not make his eastern debut at Saratoga. A coughing spell before coming here from the Pacific coast interrupted the training of the black thoroughbred, Trainer Buckley Parke said yesterday.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

An "Old Timers" ball game such as the "arnica and old tape" performance that Saugerties and Kingston teams are staging Sunday is bound to stir memories within you, especially if you were fortunate enough to live them in your youth.

It was a delightful era when men played baseball for baseball's sake. If you took a long trip and got a couple of baseballs and a couple of bucks, you were satisfied. You played often to stay in some kind of shape and you played better ball than you see nowadays.

That was before the advent of artificial lighting and high-powered cash and carry semi-pros who wrecked baseball by their colossal demands on managers and operators.

A Debut With the All Stars:

As you wonder if you can still run 90 feet without dropping dead, many pleasant memories sweep through your mind. Like the day you sat in the quiet country solitude of Flatbush and saw a car roaring into the driveway. That was 20 years ago.

"Grab your stuff and come on," yelled the big, phrasan-faced giant. "The All Stars need a ball player and you're it." It was Jim "Babe" Volker, the finest friend we ever had in baseball.

We didn't exactly jump at the proposition. We were supposed to be some shucks of a hitter with the Brigham A.C. in those days, but the Kingston All Stars were something else again.

It was on that particular day Hank Cragan, the colorful first baseman-pitcher, had gone A.W.O.L. from John McCordie's troupe, probably to pitch for Mel Lynch's Wilbur Dodgers in Maplecrest or Lake Mohonk. The All Stars were stuck with only eight players and a couple of hours later they were scheduled to face Lefty "Specs" Ellis and the Millbrook Millionaires in a special game at the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck. Ellis was a terrific pitcher in those days, but we didn't know about it. And the Babe and "Mac" McCordie made sure the information was kept from us, lest we jump out of the car enroute to Rhinebeck.

Ellis Was Tough In Those Days:

If memory serves us correctly, Ellis shut out the All Stars with two hits that day and Bob Siedler got both of them. We went "out" but the last time we drove the left fielder back a few feet and that must have made a terrific impression on McCordie and Volker because we had a steady job with the All Stars and stayed with them to the end.

It is interesting to note that Cragan never played another game with the All Stars after that day. It is extremely doubtful if we ever adequately filled his bregans, but we showed up every game.

There are a million incidents that stand out and it's difficult to chronicle them in limited space of one column. But you can't help recalling the tremendous power blasts of Jimmy Volker, the slick outfielding of the Jimmy Merritt-Pres Knight-Charlie Lay trio. "Bud" Culliton in later years. You could play first base for "Bud" in a rocking chair. . . . Any ball hit ten feet wide of first base and you didn't have to run. . . . Just toss the ball to the bag and Culliton would be there. . . . The day Jimmy Merritt arrived late at the old Fair Grounds. . . . What happened? asked Mr. Culliton. "I came out," was the reply. "Next time get a cut." Merritt sat that game out. The incessant trips to Saugerties but generally a hot ball game and a rhabarb. Chief Richter, Big Ted Frelich, Bill Fingert, Hank Baker, Dave Bell, Earl Benjamin, Charlie Brice. Worthy opponents, all.

Burgevin, Davitt and Lay:

You recall the colorful bantering between Eddie Burgevin, a great looking third sacker when he came out of high school, and Tommy Davitt. . . . Burgevin's career was terminated prematurely by a chronic sore arm, but he was crisp and decisive in his handling sessions with T. Davitt and Charlie Lay. . . . The Bruhn brothers. . . . For some mysterious reason, the old Fair Grounds teacher wove delighted in riding them unmercifully, two of the finest, incidentally, we ever played with. If Lou the present D.A., tagged one you could be sure it would sizzle on a line into right center. Fritz threw such a soft, accurate ball from short-stop you could catch him bare handed. . . . You recall the kind, fatherly advice of Jack Robins and Carl "Dutch" Glaser, good solid guys to have on your side when crashing the local "big time." . . . All Star players will never forget Dutch's famous "knock-knock" ear. It knuckled like hell, but it always got there.

Saugerties Always Was Home:

Perhaps the most famous line in All-Star annals happened on Friday nights. "Where do we play Sunday, Mac?" "I haven't got a game booked yet, but I guess we can get Saugerties. Funny, but that's where the old gang will be again this Sunday."

John McCordie Named Manager Of Kingston 'Old Timers' Outfit

Game With Saugerties Vets Scheduled Sunday

John "Mac" McCordie, who organized and managed the Kingston All Stars through their long and distinguished baseball history, has been named active manager of the Kingston "Old Timers" for the game in Saugerties on Sunday at 3 p. m.

McCordie, who was transferred to Long Island by the Montgomery Ward Co. several years ago, will make the trip from Lynbrook, L. I.

Twenty-seven well known "old timers" of varying ages will be at McCordie's disposal for the reunion of the old Saugerties and Kingston rivals.

Indications are that a record crowd will come out to see the status of yesterday in action. Several hundred fans will make the trip from Kingston.

Reunion Planned

Following the game, both clubs will be the guests of the C. E. Lynch Fire Company of Saugerties.

Memorial services will be held before the contest for deceased stars who played with both clubs. The Kingston group included Fred Stoudt, Jack Robins, Hank Smedes, Harold Johnson, Mary Carr, Joe DuBois and Cy Connors.

George Cragan has been named an honorary umpire for the day. Jack Hartman will serve as official scorekeeper for Kingston. Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schrick and Jimmy Morgan will serve as coaches.

Harold "Bo" Jones of East Kingston Goldenrod fame, has been named honorary "bookie manager" for the day.

Practice Saturday

Kingston players are requested to be at the Saugerties diamond no later than 1 p. m. on Sunday. A practice session will be held on Saturday at 2 p. m. at the municipal stadium.

The complete roster for the Kingston squad:

Pitchers—"Bud" Culliton, Jim Volker, Dewey Van Buren, Walt Black, Eddie Baker, Jimmy Doyle, Dick Williams.

Catchers—Joe Hoffman, Gene Rider, Steve Dizdik, Dick Dulin, Joe Messinger.

Dick "Sonny" Young of Block Park and George Telepas of the Municipal Stadium junior baseball clubs have joined Don Haggerty as authors of no-hit, no-run games in the K.A.A. Junior League.

Young fired his no-hitter against Cornell Park, winning 16 to 0 while Telepas turned back Hasbrouck Park without a safety to score a 5 to 0 decision.

In both cases, the pitchers overpowered the batters and there was never any doubt about the authenticity of the no-hitter.

Telepas fanned eight Hasbrouck Park batters in beating Joe Norton, Young's strikeout total against Block Park was not recorded.

curtailment, an economy move was ordered in response to a House Appropriation Committee suggestion in which the House tacitly concurred last May.
Although the Senate Post-office Committee has unanimously approved a companion bill, the Senate's leadership has not seen fit to put it on the program for debate. There were indications that the bill would not be given a go-ahead but would be allowed to wither away in the Senate.

Mail Bill May Die In Senate of Neglect

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—With a vote of 264 to 108, enough to override a presidential veto, a bill ordering two city mail deliveries a day moved to the Senate today. It may die there of neglect.
The bill would set aside Postmaster General Donaldson's order of last April cutting city mail deliveries to one a day and curtailing other postal services. The

Trainer at Local Airport

The BT 13A, an all-metal instrument trainer is the newest plane addition at Kingston-Ulster Airport.

There are "pressure-groups" at airports as well as in congressional districts. In response to repeated entreaties of local aviators interested in flying a more advanced type of airplane, Joseph "Phil" Philipovich, one of the Kingston-Ulster Airport Operators, has brought his all-metal BT-13A here from Gaidiner Airport. The sleek speedy two-passenger craft cruises at 145 miles per hour with its 450 horsepower engine. Fully equipped for aerobatic and instrument flying, the BT will be extensively used by students working for their commercial license. "That ship leads a charmed life," explains Phil about his favorite plane. "It survived the fires at Gaidiner and Montgomery Airports, and always performs beautifully." At recent elections of the Kingston Flying Club, the following officers were chosen: President, Robert Coles, secretary, Kenneth Pratt and treasurer, Frank Martino. President Coles then appointed Lois Charchian to submit a club charter for the members to discuss at a later meeting. Ed Brown took a list of members which he will use to appoint a weekly clean-up committee to care for the club airplane.
Louis Charchian, a new Kingston Flying Club member is a student at R.P.T., now spending the summer at home in Ulster Park. Another applicant was Les Frost, 78 Cedar street, a student pilot who began flying in Forest City, Arkansas while in the Navy.
Sam Wilbur, flight instructor at New Paltz Airport recently flew Carlton Locke of Samsontown to Bedford, Ill. While vacationing at Lake Mohonk, Doctor Wilson of New

Two Saugerties Brothers Sail Course to Alaska

Saugerties N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Capt. Hank Barrow and his brother chugged through New York waterways today, in a 14-foot outboard motorboat, en route to Alaska.

Barrow, 42-year-old wartime merchant vessel officer, hopes to reach Alaska via several thousand miles of inland water routes. Barrow and his brother, Carroll, set out yesterday, heading north on the Hudson river.
They plan to travel through the New York State Barge Canal to Oswego on Lake Ontario, cross the lake to Kingston, Ont., and make their way to Prince Rupert, British Columbia.
Barrow said they then would follow the inside passage from Prince Rupert to Ketchikan, Alaska.

Sanapak Not Safest, Says Trade Commission

Washington, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission charged today that Doeskin Products, Inc., New York city, has misrepresented the qualities of Sanapak sanitary napkins.
The company has 20 days to file an answer. A hearing before a trial examiner was set for Oct. 5 in New York.
According to the F.T.C. complaint, the company's advertisements have represented that a scientific test made by Consumers Union proved Sanapak to be the safest and most absorbent sanitary napkin.
The complaint said these advertisements were "false and misleading" because the Consumers Union test "does not measure Sanapak to be either the safest and most absorbent," and the apparatus pictured in the ads was not used in the test, and furthermore the product advertised "is not the same product which was tested by Consumers Union."
The complaint also charges that Doeskin advertisements have represented Sanapak as endorsed by "Joan Ellis, famous New York stylist," whereas Joan Ellis actually is "non-existent."

Church Still Skeptical On Virgin's Appearance

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 17 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church still is highly skeptical about Mrs. Mary Anna Van Hoof's claims that the Blessed Virgin has appeared to her at her Necedah, Wis. farm, a spokesman for the La Crosse diocese indicated yesterday.
The spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld, was one of a party of six official diocesan observers on hand at noon Tuesday when the 41-year-old woman said she had seen her seventh vision of the Mother of God. A crowd estimated at 100,000 persons had gathered about the farm but only Mrs. Van Hoof reported seeing the vision.

Leaves for Egypt
St. Moritz, Switzerland, Aug. 17 (AP)—Friends of Nairman Sadek said today the beautiful Egyptian girl left here yesterday to join Egypt's King Farouk in France. Hotel officials here confirmed that Nairman, whose name has been linked romantically with Farouk for many months, had stayed incognito in St. Moritz for the past three days. Friends of Nairman said she told them she would meet Farouk in Deauville, France, who arrived in Marseille Tuesday aboard his yacht, was en route to Deauville last night. The king who is scheduled to attend a Franco-Egyptian celebration at the fashionable French resort on August 20, has reserved 25 rooms for his party at the swank Hotel du Golf.

Hurricane Surges West
Miami, Fla., Aug. 17 (AP)—A severe hurricane, with winds up to 140 miles per hour, surged westward in the Atlantic today, threatening the northern Bahamas. After lying almost stationary throughout yesterday, the gigantic hurricane started a slow east or west southwest movement last night at 4:30 a. m. (EST) today it was about 380 miles east of Nassau, Bahamas, and 570 miles east of Miami.

Russia Builds Bases
Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 17 (AP)—Chinese Nationalists say their intelligence reports indicate Russia is building two submarine bases in Communist China. Nationalist sources said the bases are at Mamoi, near Fochow 120 miles northwest of Formosa, and at Yulin on the south coast of Hainan about 150 miles from Indochina. (Communist China has almost no navy. There has been on indication the Chinese Reds have submarines.)
